DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 7,10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over EP 1,227,448 in view of Canals et al 4,302,907. EP '448 teaches (Fig. 2 embodiment) a safe 2 comprising an outer door 18' hinged together with an inner door 20', the inner door having a cutout portion to allow access to certain interior spaces 14,16 and further having a safe lock mechanism 19' for the outer door and a lock mechanism 21' for the inner door. EP '448 fails to teach the use of a single lock mechanism for both the inner and outer doors. Canals et al teach a door assembly comprising inner and outer doors (1,2), one of the doors (2) having a cutout (10) for allowing access therethrough. A single mechanical key lock mechanism controls unlocking of either or both of the doors. It would have been obvious to modify the safe of EP '448 by providing a single lock mechanism as taught by Canals et al to consolidate the locking means and reduce the number of parts in order to allow retrofitting of the locks.
3. Claim 9 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over EP '448 in view of Canals et al '907, as applied to claim 7 above, and further in view of Craven et al 5,143,430. Craven et al teach the concept of different employees accessing different parts of the safe, i.e. the refrigerated portion behind the inner door 22 to replace goods or the control panel portion behind the outer door 18. It would have been obvious to provide the safe lock of EP '448, as modified by Canals et al, with a hierarchical entrance lock system as contemplated by Craven et al and as well known in the lock art to provide selective access to various safe compartments as desired.

4. Claim 11 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over EP '448 in view of Canals et al '907, as applied to claim 7 above, and further in view of Fumanelli 5,787,819. Fumanelli further teaches the use of electronic door lock control means (5a) on a safe 3. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art given the teaching of Fumanelli, to substitute electronic lock means for the mechanical means of EP '448, as modified by Canals et al, as a means of enhancing the security of the safe.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 7, 9-11 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection. In response to Applicant's amendment incorporating the limitation of claim 8 into claim 7, claim 7 is now rejected in view of EP '448 and Canals. Contrary to Applicants arguments, Canals et al does teach opening either the outer door 1 (Figure 2) or both doors 1,2 (Figure 3) using the same outer lock assembly 7, as shown in Figures 2 and 3. Accordingly, Applicant's arguments are not persuasive and claims 7,9-11 stand rejected.

Conclusion

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

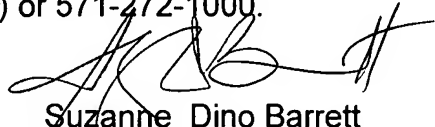

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
